The eight room dwelling house at a No. 43 Union street, with a lot about 40 by 100 feet, known as the Martha M. Leavens place, was sold at auction Thursday afternoon for $3,550 to Louis Wunderlich. It was sold for Trustee A. A. Browning, the auctioneer being George W. Rouse.

The auction was held at the property at 2 o'clock at which time there were a good number of people present. Th bidding started at $1600 and there were several different bidders who sent the price along to $2,000 in short order. After that the bids came slowly, but reached $2,500 by $100 advances. There was then a bid of $2,535, and Mr. Wunderlich secured it for $2,550. It is understood he will make it his residence.

INTENSIVE FARMING

When the manufacturer uses the newspapers for his advertising campaign he is applying the principle of the intensive farmer.

When he advertises in the newspapers of any city, he is thereby picking out a particular spot and cultivating it for all there is in it.

He is not wasting time nor money nor energy. He is not there is in it.

He is not wasting time nor money nor energy. He is not spreading his advertising over territory where he may have little or no distribution.

His campaign is concentrated where it may be studied and where results can be definitely computed.

Perhaps more important than all, he is gaining the support and the co-operation of the local desiers in the community where he advertises, and who appreciate that the missionary work, done in their own town is bound to send customers to their stores.

The next case taken up was the stage of damage suit brought by Mre. Ellen Fitzgerald of North Main street against J. B. Shannon, owner of the Shannon building. Attorney John H. Barnes and A. J. Bailey represent the plaintiff, while the defendant is represented by Attorney Stores Campbell of Hartford.

The testimony of the plaintiff, who is 60 years old, was put before the court in a deposition, as her health does not permit her to attend court. If the elevator in the Shannon building in the elevator in the Shannon to the elevator operator, had stopped it for her to get out, it dropped several inches so that when she came to step out she hit her shins on the edge of the floor at the elevator well, and was thrown forward into the hallway, striking on her abdomen and was badly hurt. It is the claim of the plaintiff that as a result of the floor at the elevator well, and was suffered from diabetes and that while she was formerly in good health, she was formerly in good health, she has been in a poor state of health ever since she had this fall.

Dr. J. J. Donohue and Dr. LaPierre gave medical testimony as to the present condition of Mrs. Fitzgerald and the bearing that the accident had upon her condition. A deposition was read from Mrs. Margaret Curran, a daughter of Mrs. Fitzgerald, who was unable to be in court. She gave evidence as to caring for her moher.

ADMINISTRATION'S ATTITUDE TOWARD BIG BUSINESS.

Washington, May 28.—Representatives of big business heard from President Wilson today the administration's attitude toward the business of the country. While expressing an earnest desire to "serve and not to hinder or injure." the president said it was evident that such a policy as the democratic party was flow pursuing was absolutely necessary to satisfy the conscience of the country and its perception of the prevailing conditions of business. This was his answer to manufacturers who came to the White House asking that all legislation affecting business, except the trade commission bill, be withheld temporarily.

The president also said that while mission bill, be withheld temporarily.

The president also said that while he was aware of the present depression in business, there was abundant evidence that it was purely psychological and that there was no material condition or substantial reason why the business of the country should not be in the most prosperous and expanding
